Name of Building: Westpac Bank  Former Name:  Cwner:  Lessee/s:  Date of Construction:   Architect:   Builder:   History: The first building on this site was erected in the 1890s as part of a suite of two two-ste and residences which occupied the sites of the present 11 and 13 Lackey Street. Portion of the that suite still survives next door at No. 11. An early (1899) occupier was a fancy goods store by Daniel Glover. It is not known when the original building on the site was demolished to mathe present structure.  References: Ashfield Municipal Council Rate Books  Sands Directories.  Description: A simple modern face-brick prism situated at the Hardie Avenue corner. It is a his storey building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Streat and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretc! At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapete brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the Street walling. Westpac signs replaced this.	NVENTORY D. Page No.
Name of Building: Westpac Bank  Former Name:  Owner:  Lessee/s: Current Use/s:  Date of Construction: Architect: Builder: History: The first building on this site was erected in the 1890s as part of a suite of two two-ste and residences which occupied the sites of the present 11 and 13 Lackey Street. Portion of the 1 that suite still survives next door at No. 11. An early (1899) occupier was a fancy goods store by Daniel Glover. It is not known when the original building on the site was demolished to mat the present structure.  References: Ashfield Municipal Council Rate Books  Sands Directories.  Description: A simple modern face-brick prism situated at the Hardie Avenue corner. It is a historey building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Streat and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretch At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapete brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the	1/6
Lessee/s:  Current Use/s:  Date of Construction:  History: The first building on this site was erected in the 1890s as part of a suite of two two-ste and residences which occupied the sites of the present 11 and 13 Lackey Street. Portion of the 1 that suite still survives next door at No. 11. An early (1899) occupier was a fancy goods store by Daniel Glover. It is not known when the original building on the site was demolished to mathe present structure.  References: Ashfield Municipal Council Rate Books  Sands Directories.  Description: A simple modern face-brick prism situated at the Hardie Avenue corner. It is a historey building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Street and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretch At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapete brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the	1/0
Lessee/s:  Date of Construction:  History: The first building on this site was erected in the 1890s as part of a suite of two two-ste and residences which occupied the sites of the present 11 and 13 Lackey Street. Portion of the flat suite still survives next door at No. 11. An early (1899) occupier was a fancy goods store that suite still survives next door at No. 11. An early (1899) occupier was a fancy goods store that suite still survives next door at No. 11. An early (1899) occupier was a fancy goods store that suite still survives next door at No. 11. An early (1899) occupier was a fancy goods store that suite still survives next door at No. 11. An early (1899) occupier was a fancy goods store that suite still survives next door at No. 11. An early (1899) occupier was a fancy goods store that the present structure.  References: Ashfield Municipal Council Rate Books  Sands Directories.  Description: A simple modern face-brick prism situated at the Hardie Avenue corner. It is a history building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Street and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretch At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapeted brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the Lessee/s:  Date of Construction:  Architect:  Builder:  History: The first building on this site was erected in the 1890s as part of a suite of two two-ste and residences which occupied the sites of the present 11 and 13 Lackey Street. Portion of the that suite still survives next door at No. 11. An early (1899) occupier was a fancy goods store by Daniel Glover. It is not known when the original building on the site was demolished to mathe present structure.  References: Ashfield Municipal Council Rate Books  Sands Directories.  Description: A simple modern face-brick prism situated at the Hardie Avenue corner. It is a historey building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Streat and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretch At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapete brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the Lessee/s:    Current Use/s:     Date of Construction:   Architect:   Builder:     History: The first building on this site was erected in the 1890s as part of a suite of two two-ste and residences which occupied the sites of the present 11 and 13 Lackey Street. Portion of the fithat suite still survives next door at No. 11. An early (1899) occupier was a fancy goods store by Daniel Glover. It is not known when the original building on the site was demolished to mathe present structure.    References: Ashfield Municipal Council Rate Books
Date of Construction:    Architect:   Builder:
Date of Construction:  History: The first building on this site was erected in the 1890s as part of a suite of two two-steam residences which occupied the sites of the present 11 and 13 Lackey Street. Portion of the fathat suite still survives next door at No. 11. An early (1899) occupier was a fancy goods stored by Daniel Glover. It is not known when the original building on the site was demolished to matthe present structure.  References: Ashfield Municipal Council Rate Books  Sands Directories.  Description: A simple modern face-brick prism situated at the Hardie Avenue corner. It is a historey building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Street and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretcle. At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapeted brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the Date of Construction:  History: The first building on this site was erected in the 1890s as part of a suite of two two-steam residences which occupied the sites of the present 11 and 13 Lackey Street. Portion of the fathat suite still survives next door at No. 11. An early (1899) occupier was a fancy goods stored by Daniel Glover. It is not known when the original building on the site was demolished to matthe present structure.  References: Ashfield Municipal Council Rate Books  Sands Directories.  Description: A simple modern face-brick prism situated at the Hardie Avenue corner. It is a historey building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Streat and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretch At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapete brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the Date of Construction:  History: The first building on this site was erected in the 1890s as part of a suite of two two-steam residences which occupied the sites of the present 11 and 13 Lackey Street. Portion of the fathat suite still survives next door at No. 11. An early (1899) occupier was a fancy goods stored by Daniel Glover. It is not known when the original building on the site was demolished to matthe present structure.  References: Ashfield Municipal Council Rate Books  Sands Directories.  Description: A simple modern face-brick prism situated at the Hardie Avenue corner. It is a historey building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Street and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretcle. At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapeted brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the Date of Construction:  History: The first building on this site was erected in the 1890s as part of a suite of two two-steam residences which occupied the sites of the present 11 and 13 Lackey Street. Portion of the fathat suite still survives next door at No. 11. An early (1899) occupier was a fancy goods stored by Daniel Glover. It is not known when the original building on the site was demolished to matthe present structure.  References: Ashfield Municipal Council Rate Books  Sands Directories.  Description: A simple modern face-brick prism situated at the Hardie Avenue corner. It is a historey building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Street and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretcle. At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapeted brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the History: The first building on this site was erected in the 1890s as part of a suite of two two-ste and residences which occupied the sites of the present 11 and 13 Lackey Street. Portion of the fithat suite still survives next door at No. 11. An early (1899) occupier was a fancy goods store by Daniel Glover. It is not known when the original building on the site was demolished to matthe present structure.  References: Ashfield Municipal Council Rate Books  Sands Directories.  Description: A simple modern face-brick prism situated at the Hardie Avenue corner. It is a his storey building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Street and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretcl At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapete brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the History: The first building on this site was erected in the 1890s as part of a suite of two two-ste and residences which occupied the sites of the present 11 and 13 Lackey Street. Portion of the fithat suite still survives next door at No. 11. An early (1899) occupier was a fancy goods store by Daniel Glover. It is not known when the original building on the site was demolished to matthe present structure.  References: Ashfield Municipal Council Rate Books  Sands Directories.  Description: A simple modern face-brick prism situated at the Hardie Avenue corner. It is a his storey building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Street and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretcl At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapete brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the and residences which occupied the sites of the present 11 and 13 Lackey Street. Portion of the fathat suite still survives next door at No. 11. An early (1899) occupier was a fancy goods stored by Daniel Glover. It is not known when the original building on the site was demolished to matthe present structure.  References: Ashfield Municipal Council Rate Books  Sands Directories.  Description: A simple modern face-brick prism situated at the Hardie Avenue corner. It is a historey building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Street and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretch At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapeted brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the that suite still survives next door at No. 11. An early (1899) occupier was a fancy goods store by Daniel Glover. It is not known when the original building on the site was demolished to matthe present structure.  References: Ashfield Municipal Council Rate Books  Sands Directories.  Description: A simple modern face-brick prism situated at the Hardie Avenue corner. It is a historey building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Street and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretcl At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapete brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the References: Ashfield Municipal Council Rate Books  Sands Directories.  Description: A simple modern face-brick prism situated at the Hardie Avenue corner. It is a historey building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Street and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretcl At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapete brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the
References: Ashfield Municipal Council Rate Books  Sands Directories.  Description: A simple modern face-brick prism situated at the Hardie Avenue corner. It is a historey building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Street and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretch At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapete brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the
References: Ashfield Municipal Council Rate Books  Sands Directories.  Description: A simple modern face-brick prism situated at the Hardie Avenue corner. It is a historey building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Street and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretch At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapeted brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the	make way for
Description: A simple modern face-brick prism situated at the Hardie Avenue corner. It is a historey building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Street and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretch At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapeted brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the
Description: A simple modern face-brick prism situated at the Hardie Avenue corner. It is a historey building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Street and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretch At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapeted brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the
Description: A simple modern face-brick prism situated at the Hardie Avenue corner. It is a historey building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Street and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretch At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapeted brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the
Description: A simple modern face-brick prism situated at the Hardie Avenue corner. It is a his storey building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Street and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretch At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapeted brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the
Description: A simple modern face-brick prism situated at the Hardie Avenue corner. It is a historey building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Street and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretch At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapeted brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the Description: A simple modern face-brick prism situated at the Hardie Avenue corner. It is a his storey building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Street and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretch At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapeted brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the
storey building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Street and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretch At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapeted brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the storey building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Street and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretch At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapeted brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the storey building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Street and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretch At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapeted brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the
storey building extensively fenestrated in its lower part. The brickwork beside the Lackey Street and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretch At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapeted brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the	high single-and beneath the windows along Hardie Avenue is of slightly darker material laid in stack stretch. At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapeted brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the	_
At window head height a band of render extends along both frontages. The building is parapete brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the brickwork being discoloured at the top. Window and door frames are of metal.  Modifications: Evidence of a former sign, BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, is visible in the the Hardie
Street waiting. Westpac signs replaced tins.	ine Hardie

tem No.	_	Address	s: 1	3 Lackey	Street
24	2/6	Nama	f Building: \	Westman I	Rank
Contributi	on A				ious Compatii	ble Existing	Existing
To Streetso	1	ale/mass			Materials		Shop
	_		And the state of t	S. (1980)		Scheme
		4	4	4	4	5	4
		1= Excel	llent 2= Good	d = 3 = F	air 4= Poor	5= Disruptive
Heritage L	istings	LEP	NT		AHC	Heritage	Other
						Study
Statement	of Significa	nce:
, and the same of	or organica
An impo	ortant corner	r site now o	occupied by an	unsympa	athetic building.
Recommen	dations Fo	r Conserv	ation Action:
		r Conserv	ation Action:
		r Conserv	ation Action:
a) Immedi	iate:	r Conserv	ation Action:
a) Immedi b) Mediun	iate: n Term:				uration of parap	et brickwork.
a) Immedi b) Medium Cu	iate: n Term: ure damp pe				uration of parap	et brickwork.
(a) Immedi (b) Medium Cu (c) Long T	iate: n Term: ure damp pe	netration p	roblem causin	g discolo	*		to the traditio
(a) Immedian (b) Medium (c) Long To Desirable 1	iate:  n Term: are damp pe derm: Planning O	netration p	roblem causin	g discolo	*	et brickwork. ore sympathetic	to the tradition
(a) Immedian (b) Medium (c) Long To Desirable 1	iate:  n Term: are damp pe derm: Planning O	netration p	roblem causin	g discolo	*		to the tradition
(a) Immedian (b) Medium (c) (c) Long To (b) (c) Long To (c) Long To (c)	iate:  n Term: are damp pe derm: Planning O	netration p	roblem causin	g discolo	*		to the tradition
(a) Immedian (b) Medium (c) (c) Long To (b) (c) Long To (c) Long To (c)	iate:  n Term: are damp pe derm: Planning O	netration p	roblem causin	g discolo	*		to the tradition
(a) Immedi (b) Medium Cu (c) Long T	iate:  n Term: are damp pe derm: Planning O	netration p	roblem causin	g discolo	*		to the tradition
(a) Immedian (b) Medium (c) (c) Long To (c) Long To	iate:  n Term: are damp pe derm: Planning O	netration p	roblem causin	g discolo	*		to the traditio
(a) Immedian (b) Medium (c) (c) Long To (b) (c) Long To (c) Long To (c)	iate:  n Term: are damp pe derm: Planning O	netration p	roblem causin	g discolo	*		to the tradition
(a) Immedian (b) Medium (c) Long To Desirable l streetscape.	iate:  n Term: ure damp pe derm: Planning O	netration p	roblem causin	g discolo	*		to the tradition
(a) Immedian (b) Medium (c) Long To Desirable l streetscape.	iate:  n Term: are damp pe derm: Planning O	netration p	roblem causin	g discolo	*		to the tradition
(a) Immedian (b) Medium (c) Long To Desirable l streetscape.	iate:  n Term: ure damp pe derm: Planning O	netration p	roblem causin	g discolo	*		to the tradition

SUMMER HILL MAIN STREET STUDY 1993

1993 PHOTOGRAPH

Address: 13 Lackey Street

Item No Page No 24 3/6

Name of Building: Westpac Bank

Photograph taken by Robert Irving

Roll No. 92-065-4

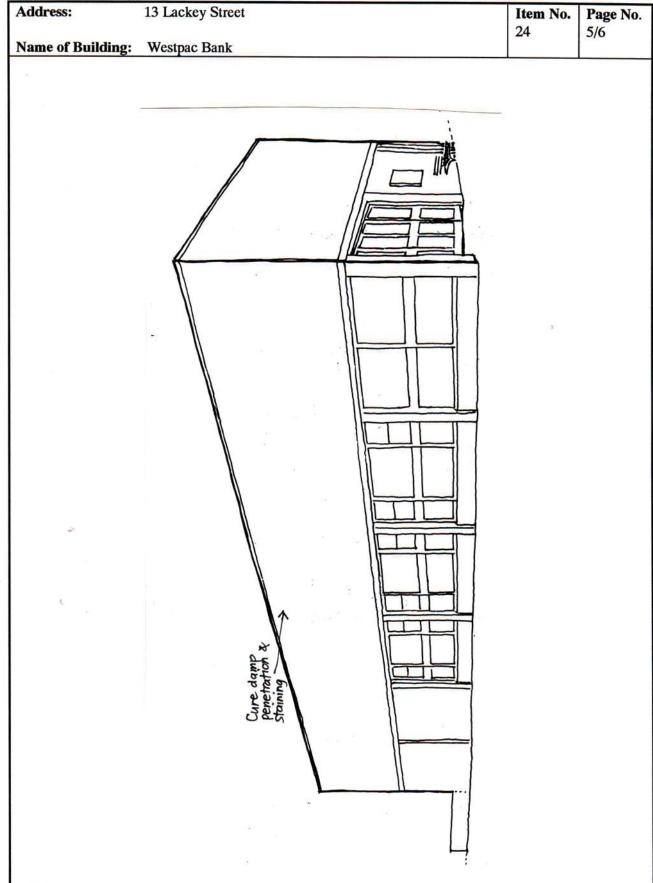

Neg No.

Frame No. 18

UMMER 1						HIS	FORIC I	PHOTOG	RAPE
Item No. 24	Page No. 4/6		Building:	13 Lackey	Street
								3
÷.
T.
		3
Source		l r	hotograph	er.		Date
Source		I	notograph	ici.		Date

SUMMER HILL MAIN STREET STUDY 1993

CONSERVATION ACTION

Godden Mackay Pty Ltd 56 Waterloo Street Surry Hills NSW 2010 (02) 319 4811

Item No.	Page No.	N STREET STU	13 Lackey Street	COLOUR SCHEM
24	6/6	Address:	13 Lackey Street
	0,0	Name of Building	g: Westpac Bank
				(4)(2)(3)(1)
				$\gamma \gamma \gamma \gamma$
				1 1 1
46
1
1
4
-				x 21
1. E	XIstun	light torce	knock to rem	ain unpainted.
			- 1 2.0	,
ZE	xisting	dark brid	knork.
	/	and the second s
3. E	XIstma	amorate	band.
			9
4. E	xistma	metal WW	ndow framing	•
5)		·
		52		