History of the Item

This land was originally part of the Summer Hill subdivision of the Underwood Estate. In 1934, this was part of a large parcel of land was transferred to Albert John and Thomas Jones, both builders of Summer Hill. They put through Allman Avenue and completed the flat development there. The subdivision of Allman Avenue was completed on 24 January 1941 and approved by Ashfield Council in February 1941. On the Smith Street frontage, they built No 159 and 169 as landmark buildings leading to their development.

Physical Description

Modest two storey block of four flats with some elements of Inter-war Functionalist styling. Brick construction with facade of smooth render, with rounded corner of south-eastern corner. Shallow eaves. Rendered brick entrance arch to main doorway. Multi-paned glass with basic V-pattern in main double doors in in stairwell light. Bricks laid on ends to create small dentils under the windows and on fence. Windows now of aluminium with small panes on either side of a fixed central pane. Hipped roof of Marseilles terra cotta tiles. A low brick front fence erected in similar brick style to this building was probably constructed at the same time. The facade and the brick fence have now been painted. This is part of the Allman Avenue group.
