Current Use House, 'Waratah', 3 Moonbie Street, Summer Hill: one of a group of two houses	Reference N° 3 13 02
Heritage Listing Recommended
Themes : Local Subdivision and consolidation The Boom Years	Themes : State Towns, suburbs and villages
Historical Notes The date of erection of these two identical houses is not known, but No 3 first appears in the Rate Book in 1897 and No 5 in 1900. At that time their addresses were 1a and 1b Moonbie Street. Both were owned by Phillip Kelly, described as a gentleman, who lived at what was then No 1 Moonbie Street, presumably in the house at the corner of Short Street. The present numbers began in 1916.(1) The first tenant of what is now No 3 was Alfred Booth, who lived here for only a short while. From 1900 to 1906 the occupier was William Caldwell, and then Walter Bragg, an accountant, in whose brief tenancy the house was named, moved in. Later tenants listed in Sands Directories included Mrs Hannah Todd (1909- 15) and William Spencer (1918 until at least 1933). The earliest valuation found was in 1908, when the property, still in the possession of Phillip Kelly, was assessed at £135 unimproved and £525 improved. In 1920, then owned by Samuel Graham, builder, of 26 Moonbie Street, the valuation was £188 unimproved and £575 improved. By 1928, still owned by Graham, the property was valued at £350/£750. In 1943 the owner was recorded as the Estate of the late Samuel David Graham and its valuation had declined to £306 unimproved and £600 improved.(2)
Physical Description These two freestanding houses are narrow buildings exhibiting elements of two Victorian architectural styles, Italianate and Rustic Gothic. In each case the Italianate features are the asymmetrical form, the faceted bay and the stilted segmental window arches. The Rustic Gothic detailing is principally in the decorative gable bargeboards. The entrance is recessed beside the gabled bay, with a small bullnose-ended parapet which originally would have echoed the contour of the bullnose corrugated iron roof of the porch. The construction is stuccoed brick and the main roof is a lateral gable behind the front gable bay. The faceted roof of each bay has an imbricated pattern. The modelled stucco detailing includes vermiculated quoins, mullion capitals, arch mouldings, bay eaves friezes, and sill aprons. The front paths, steps and porch floor were originally tessellated tiles, but those of No 5 have been changed. There are small, neat front gardens and iron palisade fences with plinths and piers. The fence picket spears of No 3 have been cut off. Each house has a side driveway. No 3 has hard standing for a vehicle and No 5 has an added carport. The chimneys are missing and the slate roofs have been replaced by terra cotta tiles.(3)
