Dreaming with eyes Open

Once when I was surfing I came across a wave and blacked out. When I opened my eyes I was in a classroom and there was no one there just a book with my name on it. I opened it up and just then numbers crawled out of it. I freaked out it was like magic. But when I was about to open the door and run, I realised that I was just hallucinating so there was nothing to worry about. Soon I came to my senses again and I felt much better. It turns out someone resuscitated me after my blackout. Another similar thing happened the next day.

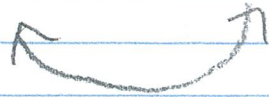

After that surprising day a relaxing morning followed it, so calm and peaceful but things were about to get worse. Today I was packing my stuff to go to Europe and I caught a taxi to the airport to board my flight. Once I got on I looked around to find the place to sit and just when I sat down the plane took off.

I was getting bored so I decided to go to the toilet to pass the time. I stayed there for a few minutes until ~~for~~ waited. Every time someone wanted to go I will just lock the door to make the person think there's someone else inside. Half an hour later the whole room shook I thought it was someone that was busting to go so I unlocked the door to let them in but it wasn't only the toilet but the whole plane. Suddenly the speaker said they just hit some kind of metal pole from the sky. When everyone heard that they started panicking and screaming the co-pilot said we had to put on parachutes and get down the the water. So I put my parachute on and evacuated the plane. But I got washed by a wave. When I got down all the people couldn't find me.

Finally a nearby local of an island saw me and sailed towards me in his sailboat just in time.

Just then a cruise picked me up to the nearest Island in Europe and I got my trip. Which then turned out to be great.
