

THE ENVIRONMENT

ZZZZZZZZZZZZZZ people were cutting down trees and one special one could see and hear that the tree was getting cut down for its paper.

It said in its mind “Ahhhhhh” one by one trees were getting cut down by people.

One person pointed at the tree and it said in its mind “oh no” then one person said “let’s go That’s enough.”

That was good. The next day the people did not come which was weird because they come every day.

Then I heard an argument with the people who cut down trees with the mayor of the town near the forest.

Then the people who cut down trees left, then the mayor went back to his town.

At night I was sleeping and I smelled burning and I woke up then there was a big bush fire 🔥.

Trees were getting burnt down then Then a

A fire truck came and they took out the hose out of the fire truck.

The fire nearly touched me then the firefighters took out the fire.

The one firefighter said “that was an easy fire to take out even though It was massive.”

He was right, it was massive and I did not realise the fire 🔥 was weak. Then they went back to town but I could not get to sleep because of what happened in my life when I nearly died.

The next day I woke up, then the people who cut down trees were not there again and so was the mayor.

Then I heard a “tweet.”

I Looked around me then I saw a bird which made a nest.

Then another bird came and both of them were a family.

Well I did not have a family because my dad and my mum were gone. My mum was cut Down by people and my dad was burnt to death in a bushfire.

I cried a lot but that was a long time ago and I'm over it.

The next day the people who cut down trees came again then they cut down the tree then CRASH! The tree fell on their truck "no no no NO" one person said then they called a pickup truck to tow the truck away.

Then they left with one tree which was snapped into two pieces. Luckily they cut one tree down but they might come back again tomorrow which is bad even though the forest lost one tree. Then I looked at a branch then I saw baby birds and they are really annoying.

The next day the people who cut down trees came back and they were going to cut me down. Some kids came in front of them and said "don't cut down the tree" then the mayor came and banned them from cutting down trees.

Then people started planting trees more for more oxygen and a better life.
