

My wildest dream was when I was playing Mario kart with my younger sister. I stopped and thought about what it would be like to actually be in the game in real life so I started dreaming with my eyes open. When I was Dreaming with my eyes open I dreamt that I joined the actual game. When I was dreaming i saw Mario, Luigi and The Princess. When I was dreaming I was wearing a blue sweatshirt and green, white shoes. I had a red and black flying car and minion boxes so I could win prizes.

When I was in the game We pressed start and we started driving and racing. When we first started I was in 6th Place but about 2 minutes later I was in 5th place because the 5th one bumped into the boarder so now I am in 5th place now. 1st is really fast I can't beat first or can I? I pressed the speed button. It was so fast that I started beating 4th place and 3rd place. I was so fast I couldn't believe it. My eyes were watery because of the wind.

All of a Sudden I was slowing down to 5th place and I could do nothing about it. I was worrying so hard that I slowed down even more I couldn't believe my eyes. I was so disappointed in myself. Suddenly I pressed this button and this button is powerful. I was the only who had it was I special or something? But this button changed my life. AHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH, I was as fast as a tiger. I was so fast I beat all of them and I was in first place.
