Dreaming with eyes open

Dream with your eyes open and write a short story about your wildest daydream.

Just think about it close your eyes and imagine your in a garden and theres a horse. You get on the horse and you start cantering on the horse you do a jump over the greenst of bushes and while your on the horse you look behind you and a hole heard of horses are there. In this moment you never felt so realer nothing can stop you. Exept ... a masve pack of wolves. All the horses are scared of them. But you and your horse arent. You galop to the wolves. The wolves get scared and run away while you your horse a the heard keep galoping in the destent.
