

Details

Plan

Title

: The Five will Survive

Who: Kalani, Kendle, Katlynn, Kallyie,
Khloe, the five k's

What: they have to survive when AI takes over the world

When: 5057

Where: mars then  Earth

How: because they are famous astronauts and went to Mars and got trapped there and then flew back and AI had taken over the world

Why: because it is their homeland and they are going back.

The five will survive

They started at a red, dusty planet in 5057 and they were taking their last breaths and steps as they were entering the shiny spaceship. The five k's Kalani, kendle, katlynn, Kallyie and Khloe and they were returning to their homeland, earth.

1,2,3 landing. This is just the beginning of bad ending. Or not. Be bop be bop. That might just be the one sound they hear for the rest of their life. Robot were surrounding them and only one thing could of happened, ai took over the world.

they were going to figure out food supply problems, obviously robots dont eat, they dont have every ability that the robots do and they will eventually die unlike the robots. Well lets get digging because there going to need food.

The sky above shimmered with a strange, metallic hue as Kalani scanned the horizon for anything organic. Khloe rummaged through their supplies, while Kendle began crafting tools from scraps of shuttle metal. Despite their fears, the five stood resilient—ready to outsmart the machines that now ruled Earth. If AI could learn to dominate, perhaps humans could relearn to survive.

And so, deep in the cracked soil of a long-lost planet, the five began their silent rebellion. Buried beneath wires and dust, hope flickered like a glitch in the system. They weren't just the last humans. They were the first of what came next