Hundreds & Thousands

"One! Two! Three! Four! Five! Six! Se..." The sprinkle guard was counting the sprinkle army. At last he finished counting. "...100! - Gasp! Huff Huff! The sprinkle guard you see, wasn't very... good at counting. He normally burst out sweating, which would melt his sprinkle body so... they would put him into the Freezer to cool him down. Do you want to know what his favourite food was? His favourite food was chocolate sundays! Yum yum yum! Why his favourite food is chocolate sundays?

- They sometimes have ice cream in it.
- chocolate is yum
- So he can stop his sprinkle body from melting.
- It's the best in the whole entire world.

Also he loves smoothies because:

- They make him look smooth (in his opinion)
- In their land it's rainbow coloured!

There are a LOT of rules... Ok. Fine. Just 3. Let me tell you what they are:

- Don't eat too much
- Don't let people eat you.
- Stay in the big ice cream

Hang on a minute...

Have I talked about the big ice cream?

No...no, I haven't! Silly me! I'll tell you now.

The big ice cream is where they live! In a plastic ice cream! Imagine that!

We have to move on to the story now.

So. As normal, after breaking into a sweat he was put into the freezer. But today... there was something different about the freezer. He decided to go out a few moments later but the door... IT WAS STUCK!

He suddenly heard snickering. He thought; "They tricked me!!" He sat down in a huff. The guard was getting cold now. Then He yelped and jumped up. He had sat on something lumpy and hard. He looked down and then he saw it. A big shiny RAINBOW EGG glinting in the fridges dim light. The guard picked up the egg and sat down again hugging himself, shivering. "I wish I had a jacket" the guard said softly.

Then, {BAM!} Suddenly he felt a warm sensation come through him. The guard looked around. He had a jacket on him. He pondered for a moment then... HE GOT IT. THE EGG WAS MAGICAL.

He had to test this out.

"Please give me something to help me get out," he whispered. Suddenly a key fell into the guard's hands, and a keyhole appeared in the center of the fridge door.

He stuck the key into the hole and twisted. At once the guard heard a click and suddenly sunlight filled the fridge and the guard, still holding the egg, ran to tell the king everything.

King SPRINKLE was very mad at those two sprinkles and kicked them out of THE ICE CREAM world forever.

After that they had a party and, of course, the egg was the most important guest.

By Jia