And they got the crystal. The end. "Do you like my new book said the most famous author in town, Fiona Fabulous. Everyone shouted yes, yes. Until one little girl came out to the front and said and said "I wish I could meet your characters." Me too said Fiona Fabulous. Then suddenly all the characters from Fionas books came flying out. The main character Jack all of a sudden came running up to Fiona and the little girl screaming "Help, help." He explained to the girls that if he didn't get back into the book the bad guy would come capture them. So they set on a adventure trying to get in the book.

Soon enough a red scroll appeared in front of the little girl, but only Fiona could read it because she created the book.

Fiona read out "Retrieve the crystal if Jack wants to leave, for there is only one rule you must believe." "Off we go I guess then," said Fiona. They all were running until they realised they didn't know where they were going. Kaboom a mysterious fairy came up to them. He told them all that they needed to go to the cave to get the rare crystal key to get back to the book.

They set off on the adventure. Finally they came to the cave and walked in slowly. All of them were holding hands when they walked in. Soon they saw a golden sand timer which said one minute on it. They all quickly raced to find the key. Suddenly the little girl found the key inside a glass box. The box had a code on it. You had to put the right combination on it. 10 seconds left. Soon Fiona remembered she made the book so she knew the code, 572389. Ding! The box opened with the key inside. They all looked at the clock, 1 second left. Horray! we did it. "I guess it means we need to say good by to you Jack," Fiona explained. "I will really miss you," Jack said. Soon enough Jack disappeared and turned into dust. "I guess this means good by for me to," whispered the little girl.

You have changed my life. The little girl and Piana gave each other a big hug.
